

BIG FOUR DEADLOCKED ON TWO MAIN ISSUES

Conferees Near Final Approval Of Reserve Bill

Will Be Compulsory For New Groups; Reduce Obligation

By United Press
Senate-House conferees agreed tentatively today on a compromise military reserve bill.

Conferees said only minor differences remain to be worked out between versions passed by the House and Senate. They predicted final approval by the conference committee Thursday.

The compromise would:

1. Make reserve service compulsory only for men entering the services after enactment of the bill. The administration wanted the compulsory applied to everyone entering the services since July, 1953.

2. Reduce the total military obligation of servicemen in future from the present eight years to six. Thus a man drafted for two years would have to spend only four years in the reserves. The administration opposed any reduction.

3. Provide incentives for building up the reserves with volunteers in the next two years. These incentives were not made public. But the conferees knocked out a bonus proposal which had been approved by the Senate.

The administration had objected to any postponement of compulsory reserve service and to reduction of total obligation on ground it would delay planned creation of a 2,900,000 ready reserve by mid-1959. Military leaders said the delay might be as much as two years.

Other congressional news:
Roads: The House Public Works committee again approved a 12-year, $48,500,000,000 road-building program calling for $12,400,000,000 in additional gasoline and other "use" taxes to help pay for it.

The new taxes would apply for 16 years. Speaker Sam Rayburn said the bill "should pass the House all right." But Rep. Tom Steed (D-Okla.), a sponsor, predicted the House will kill it because tire and truck interests are fighting the tax provisions with "the most effective lobby I've ever seen." The bill is tentatively scheduled for House debate next week.

Actors: Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said the House Un-American Activities committee has subpoenaed actors from several Broadway hits for testimony in hearings on alleged Communist infiltration of show business. He said the hearings will be held in New York, probably Aug. 15-18. Names were withheld.

Atom Craft: The Senate Commerce committee approved President Eisenhower's atomic peace ship and also a Democratic substitute. The peace ship would be a conventional hull fitted with an atom engine of the kind that runs the submarine Nautilus. The Democratic proposal would be a new development looking toward practical atom-powered merchant ships. The President's ship, scuttled in the House, probably will be rejected by the Congressional Atomic Energy committee.

Schools: The House Labor committee rejected an attempt to write an anti-segregation provision into a $1,600,000,000 school aid bill. The vote was 17-10 against an amendment by Rep. Stuyvesant Warr (R-N.Y.). Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) said he will offer the amendment from the floor when the bill reaches the floor. The federal aid would be distributed to states over the next four years to help finance school construction.

Ike Displays Atomic Furnace At Big 4 Site

GENEVA, Switzerland (U.P.)—President Eisenhower today proudly showed off an American atomic furnace, set up on the grounds where the Big Four summit meetings are being held.

His audience included two Russian correspondents of the official Soviet news agency, Tass.

The Russians watched as Mr. Eisenhower manipulated controls which put the reactor into full operation. They also heard him describe the furnace as evidence that atomic science could be "used for the welfare and not the destruction of mankind."

The reactor was assembled here by American experts from the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant.

The massive device, known as a "swimming pool" type of reactor because the atomic pile is immersed in a large pool of water, was brought here for the international conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy which opens in Geneva Aug. 8.

After looking over the reactor, Mr. Eisenhower drove a few hundred yards to the Big Four conference meeting place where he had a 30-minute briefing session with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Then he joined the principals of the three other powers for the afternoon meeting.

The delegates to the summit conference are safe from atomic radiation because the American reactor is carefully shielded. Right now, an official said, it is operating on low power for testing.

Legislation to Permit Unit School District at Shawneetown is Signed

Legislation authorizing Shawneetown to form a unit school district was passed during the recent session of the Illinois Legislature and Tuesday was signed by Governor William Stratton, according to an announcement by Herschel Newcomb, superintendent of the Shawneetown schools.

Mr. Newcomb stated Tuesday afternoon after receiving information the bill had been signed, that school officials in Shawneetown would start work immediately toward the completion of a unit district.

It is explained that Illinois law provided for unit districts to have at least a $6,000,000 assessed valuation and that the proposed unit district at Shawneetown has assessed valuation of only $4,900,000. Before the Shawneetown officials could start work to form a unit district special legislation had to be put on the state statutes.

Mr. Newcomb stated recently that all members of the Senate and House of Representatives from this part of Illinois cooperated fully with Shawneetown school officials in getting the bill passed.

A map was prepared showing that Shawneetown was limited in how far the district could extend and that the proposed district,

Stratton Completes Action on Bills; 973 Signed Into Law

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Action on the greatest number of bills ever passed by a General Assembly was wound up today with Gov. William G. Stratton's signing of 14 and vetoing of one of the last 15 measures to come to his desk.

A final tally of the governor's action on the 1,162 bills sent him by the 69th General Assembly showed he set a new veto mark, disapproving 139 in full and making vetoes in eight signed bills.

The 189 vetoes were 54 more than the record number of bills turned down by the governor in 1953.

A total of 973 bills were signed into law.

The last 14 measures signed as the governor finished up Tuesday were part of a series to modernize the state's civil practice code.

As he wound up his action on the work of the General Assembly, Stratton said such reciprocity between pension funds had already been provided in a series of bills he signed earlier.

Stratton said such reciprocity between pension funds had already been provided in a series of bills he signed earlier.

Schroeder has aided three Republican governors in 10 legislative sessions in the task of reviewing the bills passed by the Legislature. "You must run again," he told Stratton, "so that I can help in two more sessions and make my record an even dozen."

Miss Sharon Lynn Franks, whose Bulova wrist watch was lost a few days ago, recovered the watch through a Daily Register classified "Lost Ad."

Young Joe Dorris, a high school student, found the watch in front of Parker's Midway, left it in Parker's and then stopped Judy Franks on the street and told her where it was after he read the "lost ad."

Mrs. Charles Blackman's window fan went to the first of a half dozen prospective buyers after they read the "lost ad" in Tuesday's Register. "You too can sell or help others who advertise lost items by reporting anything you hear about them."

Shoemaker Hits $8,000 in TV Quiz on Opera

NEW YORK (U.P.)—An Italian-born shoemaker with an almost encyclopedic knowledge of opera reached the $8,000 mark Tuesday night in "The $64,000 question" television show.

Gino Prato, 55, won the option of taking $8,000 or a chance on $16,000 next week, by correctly naming Manrico, Count di Luna and Leonora as the tenor, baritone and soprano roles of the Verdi opera Il Trovatore.

Earlier in the CBS program he won $1,000 by naming the cello as the instrument Arturo Toscanini first played. He doubled his money to $2,000 by naming two operas besides "Faust" in which the devil had a part and doubled that to $4,000 by naming three managers of the New York Metropolitan Opera.

Next week, Prato returns to the show to announce whether he'll take the $8,000 or try for $16,000 with an even tougher question. Should he miss the $16,000 question the program's sponsors will soothe his feelings with a Cadillac convertible as a consolation prize.

Bayard D. MacMichael of Seattle, Wash., reached $4,000 on Tuesday night also by answering questions concerning opera. MacMichael will try for $8,000 next week.

South Viet Nam Mobs Protest Year Old Truce

SAIGON, Indochina (U.P.)—Thousands of rioting South Viet Namese protesting the first anniversary of the "day of shame" when France approved the Indochina armistice pillaged and burned the hotels housing the International Truce Commission today.

Police reported that the wild mobs also sacked the office of Gen. Claire Chennault's civil air transport company, which was situated near one of the hotels.

About 40 Americans lost all their possessions. Mrs. Perle Mesta, former United States ambassador to Luxembourg now on a Far Eastern tour, left her hotel at the height of the riot to catch a plane for Singapore.

Police and troops opened fire, sprayed tear gas and swung clubs to break up the mobs which pillaged the hotels Majestic and Gallieni.

At least 50 persons were reported hospitalized. The demonstrators manhandled two Communist Viet Minh members of the Armistice Control Commission.

Dozens of rioters were arrested. Order was restored to the streets of the city before noon.

The government charged that a planned "peaceful" demonstration of the "day of national shame" had been transformed into a wild riot by Viet Minh troublemakers. Others blamed the dissident Cao Dai warlord sect for instigating the violence, and still others blamed the revolutionary committee which backs Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

The Majestic and Gallieni hotels were completely sacked, and damage was estimated at 10,000,000 piasters ($285,714).

Indian members of the International Control Commission (ICC) lodged an immediate complaint with the South Viet Nam government and said they wanted to resign because "the Viet Nam government cannot assure our security."

Coroner's Jury Frees Wife in Slaying Girl

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—A housewife who conducted her own defense and was exonerated by a coroner's jury in the slaying of her husband's sweetheart may face another fight for freedom.

The six-man coroner's jury ruled late Tuesday that the fatal shooting of Nancy Penton, 19-year-old redhead, by Katherine Ann Haynes was accidental.

But Asst. U. S. Atty. Harry T. Alexander, prosecutor at the inquest, said he would recommend to his superiors that the case be presented directly to a grand jury.

Miss Penton, clad only in a pajama top, was killed by a single 22-caliber bullet fired in her room early Tuesday. Mrs. Haynes had marched her husband Willis, 32, into the room at gunpoint for a showdown on his admitted romance with the girl.

Mrs. Haynes told police that she had no intention of shooting the girl but that Miss Penton bumped her hand and the gun went off.

At Tuesday's inquest, Mrs. Haynes, without previous legal training, conducted her own defense, questioning her husband for 2½ hours.

Haynes, 32, a vacuum cleaner salesman, admitted that he showed her the gun and that she had no intention of shooting the girl but that Miss Penton bumped her hand and the gun went off.

Council Passes Ordinance to Prohibit Drilling

Action Unanimous; Ray Asbell Named Temporary Policeman

The Harrisburg city council yesterday passed an ordinance prohibiting the drilling for oil and gas within the city limits.

The ordinance, prepared by City Attorney George B. Lee, was passed unanimously.

Reason for the prohibition, stated in the ordinance, is the hazards that would result because the area is undetermined.

The ordinance points out that the undetermined area has been abandoned and is no longer ventilated, which means that it is filled with gas of an explosive nature, and that many fatal accidents have occurred during drilling operations in coal mining areas. It also points to the possible loss of property as well as life.

Other action at yesterday's meeting: Ray Asbell was installed as a temporary police officer, to serve until Chief of Police Ross Lane, who is ill, is able to return to duty.

The council allowed Police Commissioner Charles R. Hine to make the temporary appointment after Hine told of the need for an extra man until Lane recovers from his illness.

A proposition by Hine to increase the full-time fire department personnel from three to four was tabled for further study of the city's finances. Hine pointed out that the firemen at present work from 70 to 80 hours per week and have to stay close to the situation when off duty.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: "Summit" Conference Working To Undo What Was Done Decade Ago: Rearmed Germany A Weak Backdrop For U. S. European Strategy: Neutral Diplomats Amazed At Ignoring Of China Problem.

GENEVA. — Modern diplomacy, it's said, is sometimes a system of countering history. At any rate, the "Summit" conference here is busily engaged in undoing some of the things these same statesmen did just ten years ago.

And here are some flashbacks into history which illustrate how history is being rewritten at the secret huddles of Geneva.

Flashback No. 1.—Took place at General Eisenhower's headquarters outside London exactly 10 years ago when, with Germany in full retreat, he lunched with one Harry Dexter White, now branded by Attorney General Brownell a traitor, and listened sympathetically to plans for dividing Germany into two parts.

Flashback No. 2.—Took place in Berlin a little later when Eisenhower sat with Marshal Zhukov in a Berlin night club, watched German dancing girls, and drank a toast to total, perpetual dismemberment of Germany.

Flashback No. 3.—Took place in Stuttgart nine years ago when Jimmie Byrnes, then secretary of state, made a speech which echoed round the world proposing Germany be neutralized and demilitarized for 40 years.

Flashback No. 4.—Took place about the same time, when Eisenhower agreed to and started carrying out famous order No. 1096 specifying that German industry must be destroyed and that Germany become an agricultural state never to rise to military power again.

PARADOX In contrast, the chief problem Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are now discussing at the summit is Germany—how it can be rearmed, how it can be united, how it can become a power in the world again. While Indo-China is rapidly falling to communism, while the Korean peace is threatened by the Communist arms buildup in North Korea which makes it no permanent peace, while Quemoy and Matsu are the objects of probable early attack, the Americans at the summit are still wrapped up almost exclusively in Germany.

Eisenhower can say that, in 1945-46, he was a soldier and just taking orders. Today his friends can say that, as President, he's just taking the advice of his secretary of state. But the secretary of state who is advising Eisenhower today happens to be the same John Foster Dulles whose advice on Germany in the 1920's was just as bad or worse than critics of Henry Morgenthau say his advice was in the 1940's. For Dulles was an attorney for the New York bankers who in the 1920's came back from Europe repeatedly to announce "Germany is a sound investment; its future is assured."

After each Dulles statement, the German bond market soared only to end in one of the world's worst financial tragedies.

State to Help Rehabilitate Mental Patients

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The state's Vocational Rehabilitation Division today outlined plans to extend its services to Illinois' mental hospitals—to prepare patients for jobs when they are discharged.

The division is a small state agency with a long name and a bigger job. It helps handicapped persons get back on their feet and become "taxpayers instead of tax consumers."

Dr. E. C. Cline, division supervisor, said the agency is getting set to tackle the job with mental hospitals of supplying necessary training and rehabilitation for out-patient employment just before a patient is released.

The mental hospital program will be patterned after a similar plan already operating in Illinois tuberculosis sanatoriums. The division will cooperate with the Welfare Department in working out the mental rehabilitation program.

Patients eligible for release from mental hospitals will get special training to enable them to obtain employment after they are discharged.

"If a mental patient can't reorient himself in his community after he gets out, he'll be back in the hospital again in short order," Cline said. "Having a job to go to will help as much as anything to prevent his return."

Illinois' Rehabilitation program has been in operation almost 10 years. Between 700 and 800 patients are prepared for jobs each year before they are discharged.

"Last year Illinois was rated at the top of the list of states by the federal government for rehabilitation work with TB patients," Cline said.

But the division's rehabilitation work, started in 1921 and greatly expanded since federal funds became available in 1943, covers the whole field of handicapped training.

Cline said the agency has a staff of about 150 persons, many of them vocational counselors. This year the program budget is $674,000 in state and $1,237,880 in federal funds. Federal aid is on a 65-35 per cent matching basis.

Meek Predicts 'Wild Spending Spree' by Cities

CHICAGO (UP)—Illinois cities are likely to embark on "the wildest spending spree" in the state's history, Joseph T. Meek, president of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, said today.

Meek predicted the cities will enact the half-cent sales tax, as the 1955 Legislature authorized them to do without submitting the proposal to popular vote, whether they need it or not.

"It's too easy for them," he said. "They figure they can just let the state collect the tax and the money roll in."

Many cities won't listen to suggestions of other tax potentials, he said, "such as the far less completely disturbing utility tax."

"They end up by planning to enact all of the new proposals — city sales tax, utility tax, even a couple of others which the Legislature long ago supplied for them," Meek said.

He warned that "city councils, drunk with funds, may run riot and substitute for a 'do we need it' yardstick, a 'we got it, we need spend it' guide."

Meek urged the public to be on constant guard against this philosophy. He also recommended there be a sure end to the city sales tax when the state's revenue act is amended, and said every city sales tax should be accompanied by provisions sharply reducing other local taxes.

Bank Clerk Admits Embezzling; Denies Taking $85,143

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—A $65-a-week New York bank clerk admitted today he embezzled bank funds because of "little things," but denied he took as much as the $85,143 he is accused of stealing.

"I never got that high," John Calvin Siemer, 24, said from a jail cell. "I won't deny I took the money. I'll confess right here if they want me to. But it never got that high."

Siemer and his wife had lived near here with their three children since they disappeared from their Staten Island, N. Y., apartment Sept. 28. They were arrested Monday night.

A few hours after their disappearance the West New Brighton branch of the Staten Island National Bank & Trust Co. learned that Siemer's cash drawer contained about $20,000. It should have held more than $102,000, the bank said.

"I don't know how it all started," Siemer said. "Little things I suppose. I got less money than they promised and had to do general flunky work."

"Finally," he said, "I dipped into the till to make a bet on the horses. After that it was easy."

Tongay, serving a 10-year manslaughter sentence for the death of 6-year-old Kathy Tongay in May of 1953, said he tried to commit suicide in Raiford state prison because of despondency.

He charged his wife has ceased loving him, has lost her desire to remain married to him and has

Doctors Decline to Speculate on Survival of Suzan Ball

HOLLYWOOD — Doctors declined today to speculate on survival chances for actress Suzan Ball who was disclosed to be suffering a recurrence of the cancer condition which caused her leg to be amputated 18 months ago.

Doctors at City of Hope Medical Center, 20 miles from the film colony, announced the cancer recurrence Tuesday following more than a week of diagnostic studies.

In a cautiously-worded statement, doctors would only say she had shown "continued improvement" since entering the medical center.

He visited him only once since he went to prison. They were married here in 1942.

Soviet Farm Experts Continue Tour of Iowa

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa — Russia's 12 visiting farm experts headed deeper into Iowa's corn fields today, with words of peace on their lips and country-style fried chicken and gooey ice cream concoctions in their stomachs.

They were to tour the Wilson and Co. packing plant here this morning and then board a bus for Waterloo, about 30 miles northwest in east-central Iowa, visiting farms and county extension services along the way.

The Soviet delegation is on a month-long tour of the Midwest to learn methods for boosting Russia's lagging farm production.

The words of peace were spoken at a Chamber of Commerce dinner here Tuesday night by Vladimir Matskevich, chief of the delegation and first deputy minister of Russian agriculture.

"The isolation existing between American and Soviet agricultural workers was destroyed by our meeting with the Iowa people," Matskevich said.

"When we saw your toilers in the fields, we felt the same thing for them as for ours—that we may toil in peace."

Earlier, the Russians picnicked with 25 farm folk in the eight-room gray farmhouse of George Hora, near Washington, Iowa.

Hora's wife, Marie, dished up a feast of fried chicken, corn on the cob, potato salad, hot rolls and farm butter, strawberry jam, three kinds of pie, cake and iced tea.

The Russians arrived at Hora's farm en route from Des Moines after several unscheduled stops to look at farm equipment sighted as they rolled along the highway in their air-conditioned bus.

Family Picnic, Work Program by Carrier Mills Lions Club

The Carrier Mills Lions club held a family picnic and work program at the Carrier Mills park Monday evening.

Monday's program was one of the biggest and best we have had so far. A lot of work was accomplished," one of the Lions stated. A similar family affair is planned for Aug. 1.

Work on the Lions-sponsored park is coming along in good shape, but improvements will be slow until more money is available.

The Stonefort Corp. made a nice money donation this week, which will be applied on play ground equipment, it is said.

Lights have been installed in the shelter house and materials are available for building a large fireplace.

Plans also call for the pouring of a concrete floor in the shelter, so it can be used in all types of weather and donations for this project are being accepted by A. J. Henshaw of the Lions park committee.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON
The athletic department of Southern Illinois university will again sponsor a football and basketball coaching clinic, according to announcements made today.

The clinic, the seventh sponsored by SIU, will be held Thursday and Friday, August 18-19, with registration listed for 8 a. m. the opening day. Activities will close out at 4:45 p. m. Aug. 19.

"Stu" Holcomb, football coach at Purdue university for the past eight years, and Bob Franz, assistant grid coach at SIU since 1952, will handle the football portion of the clinic. Branch McCracken, head basketball coach at the University of Indiana since 1938, will head up the basketball sessions.

Holcomb was an outstanding back at Ohio State where he won all-conference honors in 1929. He entered the coaching field at Findlay (Ohio) college in 1932. Prior to taking over at Purdue in 1947, he served as an assistant at West Point for three years. His record as a head coach is 88 wins, 71 losses and 11 ties.

McCracken, who has built up a reputation with his hard-running, aggressive basketball teams, was an All-American at Indiana, where he set a conference scoring mark in the 1929-30 season. His teams have won 111 of 158 Big Ten conference games. Before returning to Indiana following graduation, he coached at Ball State college.

The SIU-sponsored clinics have become a big thing during the past seven years and annually attract a majority of the coaches in this area.

Tom Peeler, who was assistant coach at Johnston City last year, has been named head coach in all sports at Cartersville high school for the coming season. Peeler is a graduate of Anna-Jonesboro high school and holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Southeast Missouri College at Cape Girardeau.

Bill Hazel, Harrisburg stock car racer, took top honors in the feature event at Murphysboro Sunday night and now is the leading point winner of the Egyptian Stock Car Drivers Association. Hazel, in addition to the feature event, also won the first heat race and was second in the handicap at Murphysboro Sunday.

"Kayo" Willis will return as coach at Equality high school he stated today. Willis had tentatively accepted a contract offered by the Equality board of education, pending his military status. He reported for a physical exam at St. Louis last week, but was turned down for military service because of a trick knee. Willis suffered a knee injury while in college at Murray State. The knee has been

Middlecoff is Favored in PGA Tourney

NORTHVILLE, Mich. — Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist who is at the top of his game, set out today after the only major golf championship he never has won—the PGA tournament.

Declaring that "I'm playing the best I ever have," Middlecoff, fresh from victory in the Miller Open at Milwaukee, was favored along with two other veterans in this trying test of golf. Co-favored with him were Sam Snead, three time winner of the title and twice runner-up, and defending champion Chick Harbert, the pro at the Meadowbrook Country Club, site of the tourney.

The practice round scores indicated that par is going to take quite a beating. Jay Hebert of Woodmere, N. Y., shot a four-under-par in a practice round Tuesday after a 67 on Monday. Mike Turnesa came in with a 67. Middlecoff, conserving his energy for the tournament proper, went only nine holes and did not keep score.

Jack Fleck, the National Open champion from Davenport, Iowa, played 17 holes Tuesday after a 69 on Monday. For the first time since he won the open, Fleck regained his approach and putting touch in his warm-ups here.

Fleck is shooting for an elusive golf double — the Open and PGA titles in the same year. Only two golfers ever made it — Gene Sarazen back in 1922 and Ben Hogan in 1951. But Fleck, who said that the demands which have been made on his time since he won the Open "wasn't conducive to good golf" was not too high on his chances.

"I'm just not hitting them well," he said.

Oven or spit-barbecued chicken, served with ice-cold spiced canned peaches, is very fine in this weather. The peaches can be bought already spiced. If it's preferred, heat a few whole peaches and a little vinegar with the peach syrup and let the peach halves soak in the flavor for 24 hours.

re-injured since, the latest being in late March when he was on crutches several days.

Sugar Creek, Cokes, Jukes Win in Kiwanis; Carrier Mills, Walker's Tie

The winners tallied one in the third, four in the fourth and three in the fifth and sixth. The losers' run came in the sixth.

Pickford had three hits, Rauch and Maynard collected two each and Schureman, Pavelonis, Biggs and Furlong hit safely once for the Jukes at the plate. Proffitt, Roper and Herman singled for VFW.

Pickford was the winning pitcher and Roper the loser.

Carrier Mills outdid Walker's, 5-3.

but both scored two runs as the eight-inning contest ended in a 2-2 tie.

Carrier Mills scored a run in the first and second while Walker's tallied twice in the second.

Thomas had three hits and Allen and Moake had one each for Carrier Mills. Parks collected two safeties and Whiteside had one hit for Walker's.

Coleman Beated In First Game After 3-Month Layoff

CHICAGO — Hard-luck Jerry Coleman, in action just one game after a layoff of nearly three months, appeared to be on the shelf again today.

The peppery New York Yankee infielder was bearded by Harry Byrd of the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night in the seventh inning of a crucial game between the two front-running American League teams.

Rushed to a hospital, doctors said Coleman had suffered a concussion and possibly a skull fracture which might sideline him for another several months. X-rays were studied today to determine just how seriously the 31-year-old infielder was hurt.

Coleman was returned to the Yankee active list only Tuesday after breaking his left collarbone in Yankee Stadium against Boston April 22.

Chief Backer of Bill First Judge to Waive 'Cooling Off' Period

CHICAGO — Judge Julius Miner, chief backer of Illinois' new law providing for a 60-day "cooling off" period in divorce cases, Tuesday became the first Cook county judge to waive the law.

He permitted Mrs. Marie Arens, 45, to file an immediate divorce suit, ruling the case an emergency.

Mrs. Arens' attorney said her husband, an embalmer, has pulled several batches of hair from her head.

The Dodge office was happy to announce that Peeewe would need a truck to carry it all away. So what happened? The phone rang at the Dodge office and a man who runs a trans-continental trucking agency came through with one of his vans to carry it all the way to Peeewe's Louisville home.

The big gifts are fine, naturally. But it is the offerings from the hearts of the little people which thrill the little man who has become a Brooklyn fixture.

Their dollars — and even nickels — have run the Peeewe Reese fund up to better than $2,000.

"A Humble Maid" There was a dollar from an 82-year-old lady in Shamokin, Pa. Another $1 came from a woman who signed herself "only a humble Negro maid who appreciates what Peeewe has done for our people."

A Giant fan in the Bronx, unheard of, kicked in a buck.

A kid in Jim Thorpe, Pa., forwarded 25 cents "because Peeewe shook hands with me two years ago."

And there have been no less than a dozen letters from youngsters with a nickel enclosed, from Mississippi, Florida, Texas and even California.

Those, to Peeewe, will be the truly big things of his "night," more to be cherished, even, than the letter of greetings from Vice President Richard Nixon.

Law Hurls 18 Innings of Pirates' 19-Inning Victory, But Friend Gets Credit

By United Press
The Pirates' joy over winning the longest game of the season from the Braves was tempered today by a conviction that there ought to be a law against depriving a guy like Vern Law of victory after he all but pitched his right arm off in a titanic 19-inning struggle.

Law hurled 18 of the 19 innings, holding Milwaukee scoreless over the last 14 frames he pitched, but the 4-3 victory by the Pirates was credited to Bob Friend, who entered the game in the 19th and final inning.

The tense contest, which took four hours and 45 minutes, was the longest in the National league since Philadelphia beat Cincinnati, 8-7, in 19 innings, Sept. 15, 1950.

Law, who left the game for pinch hitter Ramon Mejias in the 18th only because Pittsburgh Manager Fred Haney feared he might develop a sore arm, gave up only one earned run—Eddie Mathews' 23rd homer in the first inning—during the 18 innings he toiled. He struck out 12 batters, walked only two and gave up nine of Milwaukee's 11 hits.

The Braves quickly got to Friend for the run that put them ahead, 3-2, in the 19th when Mathews walked and came around on singles by Hank Aaron and Chuck Tanner. Not to be outdone, Pittsburgh retaliated with two runs in the last of the 19th off lanky Gene Conley, Milwaukee's sixth pitcher.

Thomas Breaks Up Game Gene Freese opened with a bunt single, moved up on a sacrifice and came home on Dale Long's double. After an intentional walk to Toby Atwell, Frank Thomas singled, Freese scoring the winning run when catcher Del Crandall allowed the relay from the outfield to go through his legs for an error.

The Phillies stretched their winning streak to seven games by licking the Redjacks, 7-3, and 6-2, in a two-night doubleheader. Homers by Stan Lopata and Del Ennis helped Murry Dickson beat Cincinnati for the first time since 1952 as he pitched a seven-hitter in the opener. Robin Roberts won his 15th game in the nightcap, tying Don Newcombe of Brooklyn for the highest total number of victories in the majors. Roberts aided his own cause by driving in three runs.

Willard Schmidt of the Cardinals pitched a four-hitter to beat the Giants 3-1 in the opener of a two-night but southpaw Johnny McCall of the Giants turned around and pitched a four-hitter in the nightcap to defeat the Cards, 4-2, marked the first complete game in the majors for both Schmidt and McCall. Homers by Bill Virdon and Ken Boyer helped send Jim Hearn down to his ninth setback in the opener while Willie Mays slammed his 28th home run off loser Larry Jackson in the second game.

The league-leading Dodgers and fourth place Cubs were idle.

Yankees Beat Chicago Elston Howard's eighth-inning homer with one on gave the Yanks a 4-3 triumph over the White Sox and stretched New York's American league lead to three games over Chicago. The Yankee victory was marred by an injury to infielder Gerry Coleman, who was hit by a pitched ball thrown by loser Harry Byrd and had to be removed to a hospital. Tommy Byrne was credited with the win.

Southpaw Dean Stone of Washington limited Cleveland to six hits for an 8-1 victory over the Indians, who fell four games off the pace. Bob Lemon, who has failed to complete a game since May 30, was knocked out in a five-run fourth inning.

Jace Jensen and Norm Zauch in each hit homers to lead the Red Sox to a 6-3 victory over the Athletics. Willard Nixon gained his eighth victory although he needed help from Ellis Kinder in the eighth inning.

Relief pitcher Werner (Babe) Birrer hit two homers, each with two men on, as the Tigers humbled the Orioles, 12-4. Birrer came into the game to relieve Frank Lary in the sixth, Lary being credited with the victory.

NEW YORK — Friday'll honor the little captain on Friday night and the response proves today that Harold (Peeewe) Reese stacks up with such Brooklyn Dodger immortals as Zack Wheat, "Uncle Wilbert" Robinson and Dazzy Vance.

Aside from Wheat, the "Little Colonel" from Louisville has been a Dodger longer than any of Flatbush's storied baseball heroes. Yet in 15 years of wearing the Gowanus livery, this is the first "day" they ever held for him.

But will be tremendous. Eight automobile dealers will play a mechanized game of Russian roulette. Each will drive his top model onto the field before Friday night's game and the ignition keys will be put in a hat. Peeewe's little daughter, Barbara, will draw one of the keys. The car it fits will become the family chariot.

Tremendous Freezer Donated Another firm donated a tremendous freezer and a hot dog king from Coney Island will fill it with 300 pounds of various types of meat.

Peeewe will be 36 the following day, Saturday, so there have been offers from 92 sources to provide a birthday cake. A Brooklyn baker's union donated "the biggest birthday cake in the world."

There also will be such gifts as oversized television sets, enough for every room in the house; new golf clubs, which Peeewe can use with professional skill, and hundreds of other items.

Stratton Signs Bill To Create Agency for Industrial Safety

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton today signed a bill to create a permanent agency for the promotion of industrial safety.

The bill creates a division of safety inspection in the State Department of Labor to foster and promote safety practices and enforce rules under the health and safety act.

The measure also creates a safety education commission of seven members.

Another bill signed reduces from 25 to 10 the number of employees eligible for group life insurance plans and permits inclusion of retiree employees. Tie-ins with investment group life insurance sales are banned.

Senate Committee Approves U. S. Loans For Water Projects

WASHINGTON — A bill authorizing interest-free government loans for construction of small water projects throughout the country was approved today by the Senate Interior committee.

Local public agencies would be eligible for the loans, which would have a maximum size of $5,000,000. Those under $500,000 could be made without further Congressional approval.

An amendment made agencies in all states eligible, and specified that irrigation, water storage drainage and similar projects could be included. The Agriculture department would administer the program for the 31 non-Western states, the Interior department for the 17 western states.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

XXIII

Timothy Rourke stopped at the City Desk to confer briefly with the editor, came back to Shayne shaking his head.

"No one has got anything on the man picked up at the scene of the wreck except fairly positive corroboration that an unconscious man was carted away to the Beach by an unidentified motorist. He hasn't been delivered to any hospital, and no one has reported the incident officially to the police. What could have happened to him, Mike?"

"All we can do is theorize. The way Lucy tells it, he didn't get much of the gas. Just a few good whiffs, probably, before he was thrown clear. That would knock him out, but not for long. Could be he recovered before they reached a hospital, pulled a gun and held his Good Samaritan as a hostage. Anything on the dead woman?"

"Not much. The gray sedan was a stolen car, by the way. From near the scene of the first murder between 8 and 10 o'clock." Rourke was leading the way back to the dark and deserted file room as he spoke. "Cops checked the motel key found on the woman. They've got a somewhat vague description of the man who checked her in as Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith, and they've got the license number of your car, but don't know it yet. So far, nothing to point the finger at you. Nothing to show any connection between the gray sedan and Bristow or the strangled girl."

Rourke opened double glass doors as he finished, switched on bright overhead lights to reveal filing cases and rows of newspapers hanging from heavy wooden clips. He led the way down a narrow corridor, explaining over his shoulder, "I've a hunch I saw it locally, though I'm sure it wasn't a local story. You take one week and I'll take the next. Look first for a page 1 wire story from some other city."

"New Orleans?" asked Shayne as Rourke selected a file of back issues and spread it out on a table for him.

"We can guess that. But look for the name Allerdice and some mention of a hunk of dough." Rourke took the last week's file for himself and began busily scanning the front pages for each succeeding day.

Shayne was slower than the reporter, not having the instinctive knowledge of where to spot what he was looking for, and he was carefully studying Tuesday's front page in his file when Rourke exclaimed, "Here it is, Mike! Not New Orleans, but Baton Rouge." He read aloud:

"A triple tragedy occurred today when an automobile occupied by two veteran police officers from New Orleans and a convicted prisoner were conveying to the state penitentiary left the highway at high speed 30 miles from New Orleans, careened off a concrete bridge abutment and crashed into the swirling waters of the Seewatchie River 30 feet below. With the river almost at flood peak, rescue operations were hampered by a swift current and neither the automobile nor any of the bodies had been recovered late today. It is believed all three occupants of the car perished in the raging torrent."

"They were Detective First Class Mark Switzer, and Officer John Parradine of New Orleans, and their prisoner was Hugh Allerdice, convicted recently of bank robbery and sentenced to serve an indeterminate term in the state penitentiary. It will be recalled that none of the $80,000 loot alleged to have been stolen by Allerdice was ever recovered."

"There was a follow the next day." He turned the pages swiftly. "Car was recovered a few hundred feet downstream with the body of the driver wedged behind the wheel. The other two haven't been found yet." He nodded his head as he scanned the story swiftly. "Parradine was driving, Switzer in the back seat handcuffed to Allerdice. With the two guys handcuffed together, no one gives them a Chinaman's chance of having got out live. Their bodies may well have been carried downstream and out to sea by the flood current."

"And according to the woman," said Shayne disgustedly, "her husband telephoned her in New Orleans two days ago to meet him tonight in front of the 18th Street rooming house."

Rourke turned back to the first dispatch and began reading the body of it. He nodded after a moment. "Beatrice Allerdice."

He looked back at the paper and began reading aloud. Reached by telephone at her dingy two-room apartment on Kampart Street late this afternoon, Mrs. Beatrice Allerdice, young and attractive widow of the convicted man, burst into tears when informed of her husband's death. The youthful wife stayed by her husband throughout the trial, repeatedly asserting his innocence and pointing to their lack of money to employ adequate counsel as proof that her husband had not stolen the money. "They've murdered my Hugh," she screamed defiantly over the telephone to a reporter. "They weren't satisfied with railroad him for a crime he didn't commit, but had to murder him!"

"Allerdice manufactured the accident somehow to escape?" "Well, we know now that at least one of the cops was killed. If Allerdice was guilty and had the 80 grand stashed away with a confederate, or hidden, there was enough money involved to have fixed a getaway like that." (To Be Continued)

Veto Pathologists For Use by Coroners

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton Monday vetoed a bill to create a panel of pathologists in the State Health Department for required use in certain death cases by downstate county coroners.

Stratton said the effect of the bill "would be effectively to destroy county control over the cost and expense of the coroner's office."

Section of Moroccan Oil Port City Destroyed by Fire

CASABLANCA, Morocco — A crowded shanty-town section of the oil port city of Fedala was destroyed early today by fires which police said were set by terrorists.

Between 5,000 and 6,000 Moroccans were driven from their homes in the El Alia slum section of Fedala by the fires, police said. They also reported that a fire had destroyed much of the town of Brada, on the main road out of Fedala.

At first the fires were reported to have been set Tuesday night by the shanty town and slum area dwellers themselves. Later, police blamed political terrorists.
